

The Old Tappan EMS and Fire Departments took place in Hazardous Material training at the Old Tappan Firehouse Truck Bay. The training was conducted by an instructor with the Bergen County Fire Academy. About 60 of our first responders took part. They were reminded that a Haz Mat incident is not just an overturned tanker but more of the nasty cleaning chemicals and solvents found under our kitchen sinks, backyard sheds and in our furnace rooms.

Proper handling and patient care was reviewed in detail.
